

Why support local?

In a world of identical options, locally made products offer a unique perspective. Locally made brings out personal experiences, skills and creativity of the maker.

There are other aspects to local, in terms of environmental benefits, economic benefits and finally upholding your community of makers- all of which makes local a better choice.

Why choose TrishtanFoods?

We are fiercely local and rely on a community of local suppliers (mostly women owned) for our ingredients. We believe that preservatives do not have a place in our food and we are largely what we eat. While we are local, the flavors that we bring to you are global. Our products are packaged simply in glass jars or kraft paper bags. We believe in our products and its colors to do the talking.
